FINANCIAL FITNESS BULLION RESERVE

In the words of author Fred Schwed, "The science of economics has reached a point where further confusion is impossible." Nowhere is this more evident, perhaps, than in the consideration of whether or not individuals should own gold as part of their investment portfolio.

Some say gold is a "barbaric relic" and not an asset at all because it doesn't produce anything, pays no interest, and offers no dividends. Others say gold is the best true store of value and a sure protection against the risk of loss of purchasing power inherent in the fiat currencies of the world.

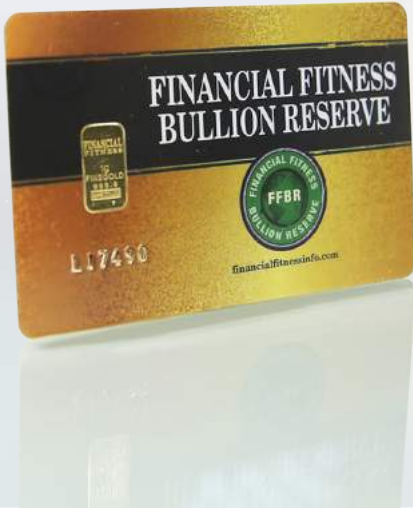

As with most things, it is possible to find vehement opinions at the opposite of extremes. If, having faced this confusing array of input, you've made the decision to add physical gold bullion to your own holdings, we invite you to consider the Financial Fitness Bullion Reserve as your trusted source for Physical Gold that is:

- Certified
- Convenient
- Competitively priced (meaning low commissioned)
- Elegantly packaged

Gold is available for a one-time purchase, as part of an ongoing accumulation program, or both. The Financial Fitness Bullion Reserve products allow you to search no further for trustworthy, real, physical gold.
